Adams Central
Community Schools

222 West Washington
Monroe, Indiana
Volume 24

Why does a person go to school? Most would say to learn. Yet, what is it that students do learn? At Adams Central each of the 472 students learns at one time or another:

1. How to make paper airplanes in Comp.
2. Never try to outtalk Mrs. Grove.
3. To buy "Cliff's Notes" when a class has to read a novel.
4. How not to get caught using a squirt gun in school.
5. How to gawk properly into other rooms.
6. Not to mess around with "The Boys."
7. How to steal reflectors.
8. How to use meaningless chatter.
9. Not to be rowdy when a Ball State representative is sitting in on a class in an adjacent lecture area.
10. How to do senior math during physics.

Of course, none of the aforementioned are what students are supposed to learn, such as the Twenty-fifth Amendment, the Dred Scot case, or the correct way to conjugate irregular verbs in a foreign language. However, most students do learn what they are supposed to, but, unfortunately, the mind of a student is like a can of Coke, since the contents of both are good only as long as they remain in their containers. When a student takes a test, his mind is like a can of Coke that's been consumed. It's empty. Throughout the year the student goes through the same process--learn, take the test, forget, learn, take the test, forget. So just as that empty can can be used again, the student can also be recycled.

English Adopts Phase — Elective Program

Speaking to a large group, Mr. Markley makes an assignment to one of his nine week phase-elective classes.

With the help of a consultant from the State Department of Education, the English department spent considerable time originizing a new curriculum this year. The new program, called Phase-Elective English, allowed students to choose their classes on a nine week basis instead of the traditional English classes. The new classes, opened to sophomores, juniors, and seniors, were subject oriented and "phased" according to the level of difficulty. Some of the classes offered during the past year were "Mystery and Suspense," "Creative Writing," "Facing the Future," and "The American Novel."

Becky Braden, Mrs. Grove, Karla Yost, and Joyce Geisel discuss different of the outdoors that can be used in a descriptive essay

Math Students Study Trig, Limits

Combining their brain power, Sue Schlickman and Carla Mitchel apply their knowledge to solve a problem in an algebra II class.

The grades that one receives in math varies directly to the time spent studying and inversely to the time spent not studying. A.C.'s math courses, taught by Miss Beavers and Mr. Ransbottom, included general math, algebra I, geometry, algebra II, and senior math. Many students discovered that math does not take a genius to figure out the tricky problems as they once thought.

Contemplating a problem, algebra II student works at the blackboard on sine ratios.

Nixon Wins Mock Election

Trying to convince the students to vote for him, Scott Bassett (George McGovern) makes his campaign speech over ACTV.

Social studies, offered only to sophomores, juniors, and seniors , is composed of US History, Sociology, Government, Economics, and World History. The senior government class held a mock election for President, Vice President, Governor, and Lt. Governor. Senior students portrayed the different candidates and gave campaign speeches during the morning announcements. The outcome of the election was closely related to the national and state elections.

Activities of the other social studies courses included: speakers, movies, and field trips. Mr. McIntosh, Mr. Brown and Mr. Gibbs taught the students about the different aspects of social studies.

Comic Books Highlight Year for French II

Translating from English to French, Myra Caudle tells the French III class the story of Mailman Mike.

Although French humor is quite different from ours, the French II students enjoyed translating French comic books and putting on skits in French every week. The third year French class read and translated "the Little Prince", a book on philosophy.

The Spanish classes, besides learning to speak and write Spanish, studied films on Mexico and made maps of that country.

Sitting Spanish I, Cindy Longenberger watches some film strips on Mexico.

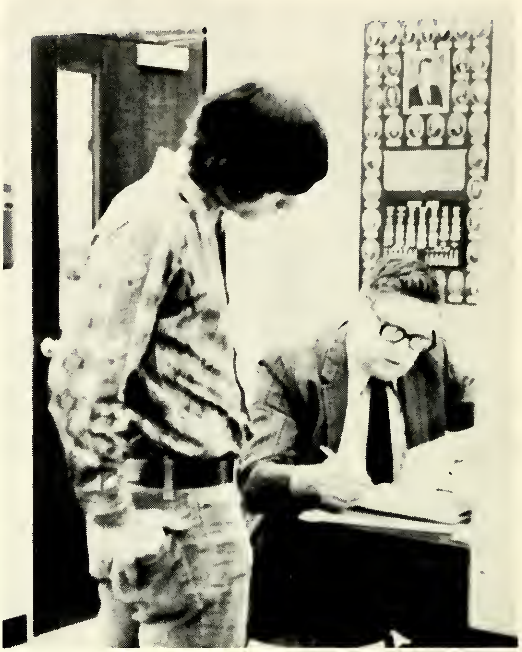
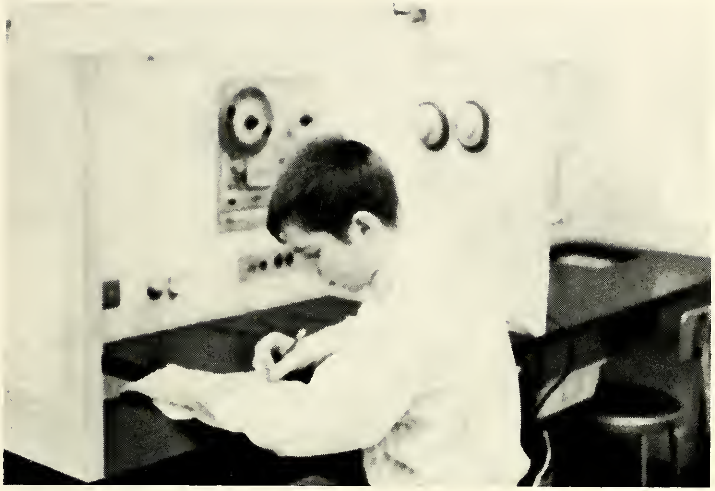
Experiments, Tests Keep Science Students Busy



After completing a test on a-c current, Mark Zurcher looks on as Mr. Allspaw grades it.

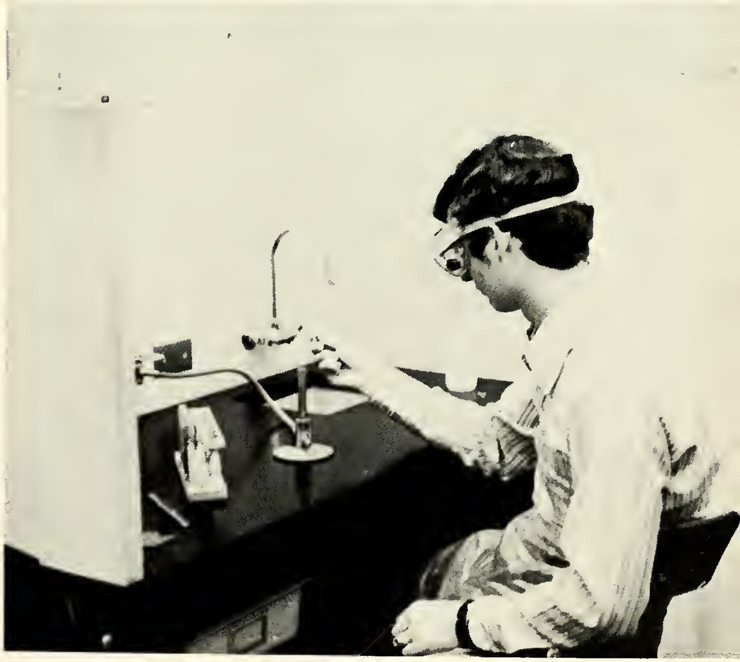
The Science Department's audio-tutorial system again proved its usefullness as students completed assigned work at their own rate. Many were permitted to take part in disections, lab experiments, and research projects for an even greater learning experience Mr. Allspaw, teaching chemistry I & II and physics, and Mr. Hubbard, teaching biology I & II, guided many students throughout the year in the science studies.

Getting ready to take two quizzes and a test on the final day of a physics deadline, Bob Mutschler listens to a tape on lenses.



Concentrating on an organic construction, Eric Cavanaugh works on his biochem test.

Using the Audio-Tutorial system, Steve Miller listens to a tape on the structure of cells during a biology class.



Brent Landis attempts to identify chemical compounds in a chemistry experiment.

Home Ec Featured in Magazine; Rackers Win PE Volleyball Championship

Keith Steffen and Scott Kehne take a couple of laps during a P.E. class.

"Welcome to Our World" . . . a world that included semester courses in Consumer Education, Interpersonal Relationships, Child Care and Development, Clothing and Textiles, Foods and Nutrition, Interior Design and Housing, Family Management, Marriage and Family Relationship, and many other studies.

The junior Home economics girls invited all to "Come a Wassailing" during the Christmas season. More than 300 people, including faculty, custodians, and students wandered in as a tantalizing aroma spread through the halls.

Highlighting the year was a special visit from Dr. Thomas Beggs, Curriculum Specialist for the Institute of Life Insurance in New York. Dr. Beggs viewed the results. of studies made by the home ec students. In the spring TEACHING TOPICS featured the A.C. home economics classes.

Besides doing calisthentics, Adams Central physical education students competed against each other in games such as touch football, basketball, hockey, wrestling, and softball. In P.E. volleyball the Rackers, consisting of John Soldner, Larry Steller, Denny Loyse, Kevin Richards, and Colin Hirschy, were crowned champions.

At the home ec party, Miss Grabner gets something to eat.

Ag, Shop Students Learn Practical Arts

Working in graphic arts, Dave Seitz prints up some programs for the Leo-Adams Central basketball game.

Having one of the best agriculture programs in the state, Mr. Watson set out to teach his students such things as how to judge soil and how to prune grape vines.

Shop classes, consisting of woods, metals, building trades, mechanics, and graphic arts went on numerous field trips had several individual projects so that the students can more fully appreciate the practical arts.

Talking with the ag class, Mr. Watson discusses the prices of beans.

Sanding a piece of wood, Neal Fuhrman starts to make a guillotine.

Art, Music Students Develop Talent

Rehearsing extensively, the high school choir gets ready for its performance at the pops concert.

Decorations for Christmas, for the Sunshine Banquet, and for the Drama Club play were the major activities of the Art Department. Art students also worked on projects that were sometimes displayed in the showcase outside the art room.

Meanwhile, the Music Department, under the leadership of Mr. Zoll and Mr. Potter, involved hundreds of students with various performances throughout the area.

The high school choir, along with choirs from Norwell and Homestead, participated in the first annual music festival held this year at Norwell. Besides singing at the Christmas concert and the spring concert, the choir performed at the pops concert and the Easter morning sunrise service.

Performing on WKJG TV and singing for a convention at the Sheraton Hotel proved to be the highlights for the swing choir. Along with the sextext, the swing choir bave numerous performances the area.

Business Gets New Typewriters

(RIGHT) Making sure that everything is balanced, Debbie Johnson and Sue Bellenbacher work on their bookkeeping. (BELOW) Being careful not to make any mistakes, Laura Edwards practices her typing.

ACCOUNTING

Some changes were made in the business department this year, which included the Typing I and Typing II classes being moved into a room of their own. The Typing II class, which was furnished with only electric typewriters, has added two new IBM selectric typewriters, which can be set up to do Keypunch. A new IBM Executive Typewriter that types differently to give better looking copy has also been added.

During a Typing I class, Lynne Rumschlag erases a mistake she has just made.

Administration

KENNETH L. PAYNE, Superintendent

The School Board members and Mr. Payne work in joint effort in budgeting and planning school expenditures, faculty and staff appointments, and the overall guidance of the Adams Central School Corporation.

Improvements visible for the school this past year include the new bridge leading to the football field, a new public address system for the gymnasium, new office machines to aid faculty and staff in their daily preparation, plus many other items essential to the functioning of a school system.

The administration, coupled with faculty, staff, and students, strives to attain higher academic standards and achievement as goals for all concerned.

Working long hours, the A.C. yearbook staff attempted to make the 1973 edition the best ever. With the help of the photography club, the staff put together the largest yearbook in the twenty-four year history. Because of the extra pages, the price of the book rose, causing a slight drop in sales. However, Mr. Birch and the editors feel that the quality of this book will cause sales to go up in 1974.

Sports editor of the Cen-Trails, Mark Zurcher works on copy for the football.

SSS Occupied By Banquet, Box Social

Throughout the year, the Sunshine girls have spread sunshine and good deeds for others under the leadership of their sponsors, Mrs. Stucky and Miss Grabner. The annual candy sales, Granny Night, Daddy Date Night, and the Sunshine Banquet kept the girls busy, as did a new event this year, the Box Social. A project that each of the girls enjoyed was the sending of gifts to their adopted sisters living in New Mexico and Hong Kong.

Staying busy all the time, the electronics club members tape a commercial for the speech club TV program.

"Helping teachers and students" became the motto fo the electronics club. Mr. Birch taught the essentials of electronics and aided the teachers with programs that were put on television. The boys learned how to set up movie equipment and learned basically how to fix TV's and set up microphone systems.

Newspaper Staff Forms Photography Club

Trying to meet a deadline, features editor Dave Eyanson works on the final draft of his story.

Adams Central's newspaper, the Jet Stream, was published every two weeks throughout the year. Generally, a four page edition - special issues sometimes ran as high as sixteen pages - was printed. The staff was composed of an editor in chief, assistant editor, feature editor, sports editor and photographer. The business arrangements of the paper were handled by a business manager and his staff and an exchange editor. The paper was free to all students from grade one through twelve. Ads were sold at the beginning of the year to help defray the cost.

Gold Teens, Tour Guides, Librarians

Many volunteer high school girls gave some of their time to the patients at the State School in Ft. Wayne. Along with girls from South Adams and Bellmont, the Gold Teens entertained the patients every third Saturday of each month by talking with them and by making favors. The two main projects of the Gold Teens were the planning of a Christmas party and the collecting of stuffed animals and old jewelry.

Taking hundreds of visitors through Adams Central proved to be not only educational for the groups taking the tour, but for the tour guides as well. Tour groups included students from Manchester College, Ball State, and other various Institutions.

Assisting Mrs. Stucky and Mrs. Burkhead, the student librarians handled many of the odd jobs around the library. Besides keeping track of overdue books and fines, the student librarians helped take inventory at the end of the year.

During the year of 1973, the Adams Central National Honor Society, consisting of juniors and seniors, gained many new members. To determine who is eligible for N.H.S., the faculty rates the students of the junior and senior classes, who must be in the top 10% to 25% of their classes, respectively. Initiation of new members was held on May 3.

An international honorary society, Quill and Scroll recognizes the writing ability of junior and senior high school journalists. Each member, who must be in the top third of his class, received a membership card and pin along with a subscription to "Quill and Scroll," a periodical published one a bi-monthly basis.

During the N.H.S. initiation ceremonies, Lynn Miller gives her speech to the new members on one of the five virtues of a member.

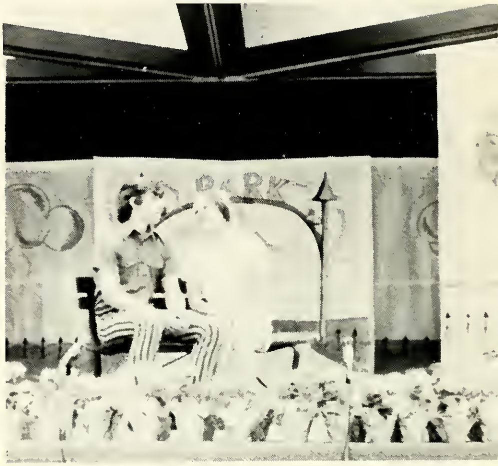
Speech Club Produces TV Program; Art Club Travels to Chicago



Finally reunited, Nurse Nancy (Nancy Wagley) and her long lost husband, Carl Courageous (Rex Myers), talk of their first meeting.

Under the direction of Mr. Markley, the Speech Club became active in several projects such as the reading of the morning announcements and the helping of elementary school teachers. Other special club activities included sponsoring a float for the Homecoming parade, making a television program for the Sunshine Society's Tea, and participating in a speech contest.

Besides visiting the Chicago Art Institute, the art club students studies art works at the Museum of Science Industry, Ball State University, and the Fort Wayne Art Museum.

During a Spanish I class, Debbie Sprunger tries a tortilla with hot sauce. Within seconds, almost the entire class requested a drink of water.

Consisting of five major groups - - cooking, crafts, sports, band, and chorus - - the Spanish Club met several times throughout the year to enjoy diverse activities.

During theyear the cooling group visited Spanish restaurants at Don Pedro's and El Cid's while the chorus and band groups learned of Spanish and Mexican songs. Competing in soccer games and making pottery highlighted the year for the sports and crafts groups, respectively. The entire Spanish club topped off the year by having a large party at which the members enjoyed Spanish food, music, and games.

Many French club members spent a pleasant evening learning about French cuisine when they dined at Cafe Johnell's in Fort Wayne. The members also enjoyed themselves at the French club picnic, which was held in the spring.

"Be Involved" became the motto of this year's pep club. Forming a tunnel for the football players not only showed the pep club's enthusiam and spirit but proved their interest in the players. Scrapbooks, carefully, prepared for the football players and coaches, held memories of glorious victories and agonizing defeats.

Surrounding the basketball team with spirit boosting chants became a favorite of the players as well as the fans. New outfits, caravans parties were just a few of the ideas that the energetic members came up with during the 1972-73 sports season.

On the final home basketball game of the season, the pep club presented the traditional flowers to the mothers of the players and the cheerleaders.

Football Team Goes 6-3

The 1972 edition of the Flying Jets football recorded an impressive 6-3 season, including a 26-6 Homecoming victory over Eastside an a 17-14 win against county rival South Adams. Jim Johnson, who along with Robin Landis and Greg Childs represented A.C.H.S. on the ACAC all-conference team, was elected the team's Most Valuable Player. The team also chose Greg Childs and Randy Reynolds as honorary captains.

Coach Hilbert summed up the season in the following quote: "Only once in the short history of Adams Central football has a team bettered the record of the 1972 Jets. It was truly a team effort and a most satisfying year, even though the Jets were beaten by Homestead in overtime and by only 3 points by Bellmont. We had a fine group of seniors and they are to be congratulated on a job well done."

Coach Hilbert shakes hands with former A. C. assistant coach and Eastside head coach John Fallis after A. C. 's Homecoming victory.

Jim Foreman, who along with Randy Reynolds accounted for all of A. C. 's total yardage, sweeps the left end for a twelve yard gain against Southern Wells, in a game won by A. C. 36-14.

Barger Girls Pace Rifle Team to 10-1 Record; Cross Country Team Experiences Rebuilding Year

Cross Country: Coach Humble, Don Fiechter, Ned Arnold, Dan Ross, Denver Nussbaum, Keith Steffen, Doug Wilks.

A.C.'s number one runner, Dan Ross strives to gain ground in the sectional. Ross finished eighth overall in the conference standing at the end of the season.

Prior to the start of the sectional, Denver Nussbaum confers with Coach Humble. Nussbaum finished second for Adams Central behind Dan Ross.

Led by Cousins Lila and Kathy Barger, the Adams Central rifle team won ten matches while losing one. The Concordia ROTC, a team which A. C. defeated twice during the season, accounted for the sole loss by besting A.C. by one point, 1084-1083.

However, the cross country team, made up of only underclassmen, could not match the impressive record of the rifle team. The harriers could manage just a 10-19 record, but one runner, Dan Ross, did finish eighth in the Allen County Athletic Conference. Coach Humble expects that next year's team will have more depth and should be much improved.

Softball Team Records 8-1 Season; Volleyball Team Advances to State Finals

Losing only the final game of the season to Bellmont, the Adams Central G.A.A. softball team had one of the finest seasons in its history as the team won eight of nine games.

However, the season the G.A.A. volleyball had completely overshadowed the one of the softball team. Ending a sensational 22-7 season, the A.C. volleyball team emerged as one of the top teams in the state.

Besides being the runner-up in the conference tourney, the team had the honor of bringing to A.C. the first sectional trophy ever won by a G.A.A. team. A.C. took the Portland sectional by defeating Portland 15-6 and 15-2 in the final match.

After defeating Connersville and Pendleton Heights in the New Castle regional, the girls advanced to the state finals in Indianapolis. Although they won the first game from Taylor 15-5, they lost the next two 19-17 and 15-13.

By reaching the state finals, the G.A.A. volleyball team went farther in a state tournament than any other athletic organization in Adams Central's history.

In the second game of the sectional finals, Janice Ross serves against Portland. A.C. won that game 15-2 after winning the first game by a score of 15-6.

Holding the sectional championship trophy high, Patty Sauers happily accepts it from the tournament director.

After the first eleven games, the basketball team had a mediocre 1-10 record. However, with the return of Jack Stepler from an injury, the Jets jelled and won six of their last ten games, and of the four losses, all were by close scores.

Leading the team in scoring was Kim Fruechte with a 13.8 average while Andy Miller and Randy Landis lead the squad in rebounding.

The A.C. cheering section mobs the players after the team won its first conference tourney game ever.

In posting a 7-4 slate for the second straight year, the A.C. wrestling team set school and state records when it destroyed Winchester 78-0

Sophomore Rick Fiechter, who wrestled at the 98 pound weight class, became the first A.C. grappler to advance to regional competition when he finished runner-up in the Bellmont Sectional.

Although the team will lose senior co-captains Scott Bassett and Steve Braun, it will retain eleven lettermen, making next year's outlook for Coach Humble the most promising since the wrestling program began three years ago.

Wrestling at 105 pounds, Jon Kaehr drives his Winchester opponent down to the mat. A.C. defeated Winchester 78-0.

Trying to get down to 112 pounds, Scott Bassett sits in the sweat room.

Cagers Win 4-Way Tourney; Coyne, Nussbaum Qualify for Track Regional

Although the G.A.A. basketball ended up the season with a 4-5 record, all was not lost as the dynamic A.C. team brought home honors by winning the 4-way tourney at Adams Central. The team defeated Bellmont in the first game 41-36 and downed Norwell in the finals 46-39.

Likewise, the G.A.A. track team, despite having a 4-7 record, had many team members gain recognition at the district track meet. Many school records were broken, and two girls - - Karen Coyne and Teresa Nussbaum - - qualified for the track regional by placing in the top three of their events. With the team being dominated by underclassmen, the prospects for next year look very favorable.

Foreman Makes All-Conference; Stepler Golf Medalist

Despite a dismal season, Adams Central's track team did place one individual - - Jim Foreman - -on the all-Allen County Athletic Conference team. A sprinter and pole vaulter, Foreman, who cleared 13 feet, $\frac{1}{4}$ inch last year, had a top vault of 12 feet, 6 inches during 1973.

Even though A.C.'s golf team won very few matches during, several school records were broken by the linksmen. Jack Stepler, the golf team's medalist, broke Steve Rich's two year old record for nine holes by firing a two over par 38 against Concordia at the Decatur courses Stepler also broke the school record for eighteen holes, set by Greg Landis last year with a ten over par 82, two for the year of 1973. His best effort was a seven over par 79 in the conference meet at which Stepler placed ninth.

Driving for the finish line, Andy Miller finishes second between two Norwell runners in the high hurdles. Miller also finished third in the low hurdle, but the team lost 102-25.

(LEFT) Playing against Bellmont, Jack Stepler, medalist for the year, prepares to hit a wood shot. Stepler shot a round of 43, but Bellmont won the match by the score of 153-186. (BELOW) Running in lane four, Jim Foreman sprints for the tape in the 100 yard dash. Foreman finished second in that event but won the pole vault by clearing 12 feet, 6 inches.

Summer Team Cops ACAC Championship

(RIGHT) Playing against Pennville, shortstop waits for a ground ball. A.C. easily won the game 16-0. (BELOW) Batting against Homestead, Ron Gremaux lashes at a pitch. Gremaux had two hits, scored two runs, and batted in two runs in the game won by Adam Central By the score of 11-9.

In a game played against Churubusco, Mark Zurcher scores a run. Zurcher went two for four, and Adams Central won the game 7-2.

During recent years, Adams Central has managed to develop many fine baseball teams. Last summer's team turned out to be no exception, as in post-season play-off action, the underdog A.C. team put everything together to bring home the A.C.A.C. championship trophy for the second straight year.

With five seniors and two all-conference members, Dale Adler and Mark Zurcher, returning, Coach McIntosh and Coach Dubach had high hopes for the spring season. At the time of printing, inclement weather had washed out four days of the baseball sectional. A.C. had defeated Bellmont in the first game and was to play Winchester in one of the semi-final games. The other semi-final game was South Adams versus Heritage.

Bob Mutschler warms up the pitcher before the start of the game against Pennville.

AC Sets up New IS System

For the year of 1972-73, Adams Central modified its Independent Study Program so the students could make more efficient use of their time when on Independent Study (I.S.) The new rules are as follows.

1. The library becomes a no-talk area. Students may use the commons area and rooms which are not in use for talking.
2. Students are not allowed to spend more than forty minutes a day in the commons area.
3. Students are not allowed to use profanity, to talk back to teachers over a disagreement, or to play cards. If a student does any of the aforementioned, his I.S. privileges will be suspended for two weeks. Students are allowed to play chess or checkers on their I.S. time.

After experimenting with the I.S. Program for three years, the administration now thinks it will work.

Every day the Supervised Study Hall contains many students of I. S.

Sitting in her first module home room class, Connie Fruechte reads her invitation to the prom.

Since the library became a no-talk area, the senior boys use their former sanctuary only in the morning before school begins.

Connie Johnson Crowned Homecoming Queen

Working at Mark Zurcher's house, Don Inniger, Jim Foreman, and some other seniors make a few final day preparations on the class float.

On October 20 the Adams Central football field became the sight of the fourth annual Homecoming festival. The senior football players escorted the queen candidates and class representatives from the west end zone to midfield, where Bob Mutschler and Jim Foreman crowned Connie Johnson Homecoming Queen. The court consisted of senior candidates Lila Barger, Becky Braden, and Denise Sprunger and class representatives Deb Johnson, Bev Braden, and Vicki Mitchel.

Capturing float honors was the sophomore class with the junior class placing second and the senior class third. Homecoming was a complete success with the parade of floats, the queen and her court, and a Jet victory over the Eastside Blazers!

Bob Mutschler gives Connie Johnson, the newly crowned Homecoming Queen, the traditional kiss.

Assemblies Break Routine

(RIGHT) Speaking with the junior and senior classes, United States Senator Birch Bayh discusses the difference one vote can make. (BELOW) In an effort to get the basketball team fired up for the A. C. A. C. tourney, Rex Myers, Don Inniger, Mark Kaehr, Rick Hurst, and Charlie Foor ask Mr. Biggs to help them sweep to a victory.

Preparing to block a potential shot, Jim Foreman tries out the game of spaceball.

During the year the Adams Central student body saw assemblies that ranged from a speech by Senator Birch Bayh to pep rallies to a presentation of spaceball by the Iowa state champion. The administration arranged these assemblies in an attempt to entertain the students and inform them of the problems they will be facing in and out of school.

Sprunger, Fruechte Named Prom Queen, King

Queen and King of the prom, Denise Sprunger and Kim Fruechte take the traditional first dance.

On the evening of May 5, the junior class sponsored an all-night prom, which featured a banquet, a dance, a movie, and some bowling. After enjoying the banquet in the school cafeteria, the couples proceeded to the gym for the dance, featuring Zane Madison. At that time Kim Fruechte and Denise Sprunger were crowned King and Queen of the festivities. The next was Bluffton, where everyone traveled to see the movie "Shenandoah." After the movie ended, the couples moved on to Decatur, where they finished off the evening with a few hours of bowling at Villa Lanes.

In the A.C. cafeteria, the students chat at the banquet.

Senior Breakfast

Seniors Visit King's Island

After getting off the buses at King's Island, the senior class waits to get in.

Many seniors awoke early Saturday morning, May 12, to board busses that would motor them to their destination near Cincinnati, Ohio. Bus drivers Charles Morrison and Harold Barger, along with Mr. Huffman, Mr. Hilbert, Mrs. Grove, and Miss Grabner accompanied the seniors on a very enjoyable day at King's Island.

No year was ever like 1972-73, which is why yearbooks are made. At Adams Central, there were many firsts, such as an athletic group--the G.A.A. volleyball team--making the state tournament and the wrestling team recording a state record win. However, not everything that happened for the first time was good as marijuana was found in the school building. On the nation scene the year was quite unique. The tragedy of the 1972 Summer Olympia and the scandal of the Watergate incident were just two events that highlighted school year.

In closing I would like to thank everyone who helped make this book possible - - Mr. Birch, all the staffs, and Mrs. Grove and the photography club.
